

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: August 3, 2026

KKC Marketing respects your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains what information we may collect when you visit our website, how we use it, and the choices available to you.

Information We Collect

We may collect information that you voluntarily provide through a contact form, assessment, consultation request, email, or other website feature. This information may include:

- Your name
- Email address
- Telephone number
- Business or organization name
- Information included in your message or request
- Assessment responses or service interests

We may also collect limited technical information automatically, including your browser type, device type, approximate location, referring website, pages visited, and general website activity.

How We Use Your Information

KKC Marketing may use your information to:

- Respond to questions and contact requests
- Schedule consultations or coaching sessions
- Provide requested services
- Send information related to your inquiry
- Improve the website, services, and customer experience
- Maintain website security and prevent misuse
- Comply with applicable legal obligations

KKC Marketing will not use your telephone number to send recurring marketing text messages unless you have provided appropriate consent.

Cookies and Analytics

This website may use cookies and similar technologies to understand how visitors use the site and to improve its performance.

We may use third-party services such as website hosting platforms, Google Analytics, scheduling tools, email services, form providers, or customer-management tools. These providers may collect or process limited information according to their own privacy policies.

You can control or disable cookies through your browser settings. Disabling cookies may affect how certain website features operate.

How We Share Information

KKC Marketing does not sell or rent your personal information.

We may share information with trusted service providers that help operate the website or deliver requested services. These providers are permitted to use the information only as necessary to perform their services.

Information may also be disclosed when reasonably necessary to:

- Comply with a law, court order, or legal process
- Protect the rights, property, or safety of KKC Marketing or others
- Investigate suspected fraud, misuse, or security concerns
- Complete a business transfer, reorganization, or similar transaction

Data Security

KKC Marketing uses reasonable administrative and technical measures to protect personal information. However, no website, email system, or method of electronic transmission can be guaranteed to be completely secure.

Please do not submit sensitive personal information, financial account information, passwords, Social Security numbers, medical information, or other confidential records through a general website contact form.

Data Retention

We retain personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary to respond to inquiries, provide services, maintain business records, resolve disputes, and meet legal obligations.

Your Choices

You may contact KKC Marketing to:

- Ask what personal information we have about you
- Correct inaccurate information
- Request deletion of your information
- Withdraw a previous communication request
- Opt out of nonessential marketing communications

Certain information may be retained when required for legal, accounting, security, or legitimate business purposes.

Children's Privacy

The KKC Marketing website and services are intended for adults and are not directed toward children under 13. We do not knowingly collect personal information from children under 13.

External Websites

The website may contain links to third-party websites or services. KKC Marketing is not responsible for the content, security, or privacy practices of those third parties.

Changes to This Policy

KKC Marketing may update this Privacy Policy as the website, services, or legal requirements change. The updated policy will be posted on this page with a revised effective date.
